FORT LAUDERDALE, FL (June 7, 2012) – CRS Jet Spares, a leading business aviation aftermarket parts supplier, celebrated 10 years as an exhibitor at the annual EBACE convention in Geneva this year.

“We are very proud to celebrate this milestone and being a part of what has become the premier international business aviation networking event,” explains CRS Vice President, Jack Caloras. “CRS has been a part of the European business aviation community for many years and as we look forward to the future and further global expansion, EBACE provides us the exposure and networking opportunities to build relationships with customers from all over the world.”

As in years past, the company showed their appreciation by giving away an Apple iPad. This year’s winner was Mike Hodgson of Jet Aviation UK.
